- ✦ Shimla (145kms)

Travelling by road is the quickest (and in some cases the only available) option to reach all these destinations.

The name Punjab can be translated to “the land of five rivers”. These rivers have blessed the state with unrivalled fertility and prosperity. The rich and vibrant culture that the state is famous for, then can be attributed to these mighty rivers.

Anand at the Satluj is a premium farm-stay situated on the bank of river Sutlej and at the edge of the holy town of Sri Anandpur Sahib.

The resort is perfect for those looking for an experience removed from urban environs, set amongst lush farmlands and rich in culture. Also a great place for those either getting back to their roots or drawn by the rich history of Sikhism.

Accommodation

The accommodation units at Anand at the Satluj are permanent eco-luxury tented cottages built using river bed stones & pebbles with sloping natural slate tiled roofs. Food & Beverage

A seasonally inspired menu is carefully prepared mainly using fresh organic vegetables and herbs grown in-house in our organic vegetable garden. The traditional home made recipes will give guests a taste of fine Indian home style dining. A multi cuisine dining area with indoor and outdoor dining options provides for perfect settings to enjoy the delicacies prepared at the resort.

Experiences

The farm stay experience

Situated amidst sprawling farmlands, Anand at the Satluj provides guests with the perfect opportunity to interact with the local agrarian community. Walks to the local villages and interaction with the residents to provide a glimpse of everyday village life. More hands on experiences such as milking cows, tractor rides and an introduction to the basics of farming can also be organised.

The cultural kaleidoscope

Punjab is renowned for its boisterous culture. Invigorating and zesty, its music and dance forms have been in the centerstage of Indian culture. At Anand at the Satluj, you can choose between being a first row audience or participant in Bhangra and Gidda performances.

The guests can also experience the martial forms of the warrior clans with training sessions for the traditional skills.

The Spiritual Stay

Sri Anandpur Sahib is one of the holiest places for Sikhs. With its inception in 1665 by Guru Tegh Bahadur the town has been inexorably tied to the religion and its aspects. From the all important festival of Holla Mohalla to more than 10 Gurdwaras, including the Takth Sri Kesgarh Sahib, the birthplace of the Khalsa, this town is an absolute landmark for those interested in both Indian and Sikh history.

A must visit is the Virasat-e-Khalsa museum of Sikhism, which leaves visitors with a sense of wonder, both from the perspective of build and content.

Such positive vibes all around coupled with the serenity of the river and farmlands, Anand at the Satluj is perfect for Yoga, meditation and spiritual getaways too.

At the resort

Beyond the stay and experiences, Anand at the Satluj has a lot to do if you decide to stay in house:

The 'Gallery Dining Hall' features a permanent exhibition of Paintings and Photographs by well known artists. It also has a large projection TV screen to watch sports or catch up with unfolding news.

A 'Polo lounge' to relax and play pool, chess, carom board or to read and chill out with family and friends.

You can enjoy outdoor sports such as fun-cricket, football, badminton, table tennis, volley ball & boating.

Please Note: Most of the activities will require a request being placed, and pre-payment (if applicable) at the time of booking
