

Migrational Camps

FACT SHEET

Explore a rich landscape of inky blue skies, burnt orange sunsets and the soft neutrals of the African savannah. Two Migrational Camps, Nyasi, (meaning grass) and Songa, (meaning to move) Migrational Camps, are hidden under the deep shade of acacia canopies.

The camps move through 4 sites in 2 key locations (North and South) throughout the year following in the footsteps of The Great Migration for a front row seat to the procession of more than two million wildebeest, zebra and Thomson's gazelle as they wander across the vast grass plains.

Layout of Migrational Camps

This layout is an estimate and subject to change based on the location of camp as outlined above (North, South).

DETAILED INFORMATION: The Migrational Camps have two identical mobile camps each with 8 en-suite tents and a family tent (2 en-suite rooms and a shared lounge). Each of the camps are pitched as a split camp whereby one side of the camp will have 6 tents and the other side will have 2 tents and the family tent. Each half of the camp faces in a different direction and is fully contained with its own lounge and dining facility, using natural habitat to ensure maximum privacy and each camp.

The two sides of the camp operate independently while sharing a back of house. Each camp has an option to make one half a 'Private Camp'. This is the smaller side with 2 tents and the family tent (pictured left).

Our conservation fund

Commitment to sustainability

The protection of Tanzania’s natural heritage is FCF’s core interest. The Friedkin Conservation Fund of Tanzania (FCF) is committed to safeguarding the future of Tanzania’s wilderness areas through engaging communities as partners in conservation and collaborating with stakeholders in effective wildlife management and research.

By implementing social projects aimed at education, improving health and promoting sustainable livelihoods in areas neighbouring wildlife reserves, FCF aims to create a positive impact on lives of rural communities, encouraging people to appreciate and protect their wildlife and its habitat. To ensure a holistic approach to the protection of Tanzania’s natural heritage, FCF also supports wildlife conservation programs and partners with scientists to conduct research to improve and inform outcomes.
