POKHARA LODGE

Located on a ridge half an hour outside Pokhara, the lodge is an ideal base for guests to relax in a rural mountain setting, away from the bustle of Nepal's cities. With a central lodge, bar and dining room, the comfortable rooms are arranged in clusters of cottages resembling a Nepali village. All have attached bathrooms, private verandas and Himalayan views. Daily table d'hôte menus feature a range of Nepali dishes and continental specialities made from local fresh ingredients and home-grown herbs and garden salads. Guests enjoy bird walks and day hikes through the forests and villages, escorted by trained local guides. The secluded, award-winning swimming pool reflects the white peaks. Masseurs offer a range of Ayurvedic and shiatsu therapy; yoga and meditation sessions are also available. For the adventurous, paragliding and micro-light flights against Annapurna's backdrop are thrilling options. Pokhara sightseeing, museum visits, golf and exploring the lively lakeside are all popular activities.

Beautiful, tranquil setting – we had a wonderful time."

POKHARA LODGE

Designed as the essence of tranquillity, you will appreciate the lodge's atmosphere from the moment you pass through the elegant front door, framing the sentinel peak of Machhapuchhare. Built of hand-cut stone, the cottage rooms provide welcoming, understated seclusion with cool slate and parquet floors, rich Tibetan rugs, handmade wood furniture, and original artwork. Large windows and glass double doors maximise the glorious views of the amazing location. From the lodge gardens you can enjoy the majestic peaks. There is as much activity or gentle relaxation as you wish, with your programme designed to meet your personal preferences. One can easily while away an entire morning gazing at the inspiring views.

A candle-lit terrace for pre-dinner cocktails, or comfy chairs around a log fire, the main lodge provides the focal point around our Nepali style courtyard. Colonel Jimmy's library contains a unique collection of Himalayan mountaineering literature. The bar provides a full range of international and local drinks, and remains open until the last guest retires. From elegant dining to children's favourites, the kitchen uses fresh, local, organic produce for its range of Nepali and western meals.
